VDMA: International Rotating Equipment Conference 2019 – Call for Papers now online

Frankfurt, 17 September 2018 – The Call for Papers for the „International Rotating Equipment Conference” 2019 is ready for download at <http://www.introequipcon.com>. “We call visionaries and experts from the pump and compressor industry to submit their proposals for technical papers”, informs Christoph Singrün, Managing Director at VDMA Pumps + Systems as well as Compressors, Compressed Air and Vacuum Technology and conference organizer. “Submit your proposal by 30 November 2018 at the latest.”

After receipt the programme committee, consisting of high-ranking representatives from science, manufacturers and users, will decide on the selection in an approved procedure. The authors of the accepted papers are requested to formulate their technical papers in detail which guarantees the usual high quality standards. The programme brochure will be available in March 2019.

With around 750 participants from over 30 countries (2016) and about 700 sqm exhibition, the “International Rotating Equipment Conference” is with regard to size and internationalization the “World’s No. 1” for pumps, compressors and vacuum technology. The event will take place in the Congress Center of Wiesbaden, from 24 to 25 September 2019.
